Monroe County to Present Commemorative Books to Schools and Libraries in Honor of America's 250th Anniversary

Event Date: Friday, October 24, 2025

Time: 11:00 AM

Location: The Monroe County Courthouse Plaza, 610 Monroe Street, Stroudsburg

The Education Subcommittee of the Monroe County America250PA Commission is proud to commemorate the upcoming 250th Anniversary of the United States of America (1776–2026) with a special presentation to local schools and public libraries.

As part of this historic celebration, representatives from each Monroe County school district and public library will receive a copy of the commemorative book, a beautifully illustrated book that highlights the rich history, culture, and significance of Pennsylvania within the broader American story.

“K is for Keystone: A Pennsylvania Alphabet,”

Please join us at the Monroe County Courthouse Plaza for this meaningful occasion as we honor our nation's Semiquincentennial and invest in education and community heritage.
